The angle of incidence is equal to the reflected angle through the law of reflection. The angle of incidence and the angle of reflection is always equal, and they are both on the same plane along with the normal. 2,37,452.

Angle of Incidence - Definition, Formula, Diagram, Examples

According to the law of reflection, images are reflected from a smooth surface, such as a mirror, at the same angle (θ_2) as the incidence angle (θ_1). When the eye "sees" an object in three-dimensional space in a mirror, it is actually viewing an image along sight lines created by the reflection of light from the surface of the mirror.
