Teaching Children about Parts of Speech

(Language Book 3) offers easy-to-understand definitions, examples, and colorful illustrations to teach students about nouns (including common nouns and proper nouns), pronouns, noun markers, adjectives, possessive adjectives, verbs, adverbs, the 23 helping verbs, prepositions, interjections, and conjunctions. Student interaction is also encouraged as most lesson pages include one or more questions relating to parts of speech. (The answers are provided at the end of the book.) Besides being taught how to identify the different parts of speech in sentences, they will also learn how to recognize a verb phrase as well as the subject and predicate of a sentence. Several reproducible worksheets are also available to be used for individual practice, to assess student learning, or for a teacher to use for direct instruction purposes on the classroom screen. (The multiple-choice practice test discussed below may also be reproduced for non-commercial, classroom use.) This book could be introduced to students as early as the first grade and used throughout elementary, middle, and high school. Actual testing of the content could begin as early as the 2nd or 3rd grade. Most of the pages take only a few minutes of instruction time. It is recommended that you introduce one new page to the students daily and that you spend at least one day a week briefly reviewing pages you have already studied. This will help students to retain the information and will also help to prepare them for the corresponding unit test designed specifically for this book. A practice test is included at the end of the book. The same practice test is also available online as a computer-based test. You can access the test free of charge by visiting the website of Habakkuk Educational Materials at <https://www.habakkuk.net/>. The computer will notify them if an answer is correct or incorrect, and their grades will be displayed after completing a test. When the student feels confident or at the teacher's discretion, there is also a computer-based unit test they can take to test their comprehension over the book's content.

Report Writing for Criminal Justice Professionals Routledge

So much of the process of criminal justice depends on good documentation, and criminal justice professionals can spend as much as 50-75% of their time writing up administrative and research reports. Much of the legal process depends on the careful documentation that records crucial information. And yet most of these law enforcement, security, corrections, and probation and parole officers have not had adequate training in how to provide a well-written, accurate, brief, and complete report.

Report Writing for Criminal Justice Professionals provides practical advice on report writing -- with specific writing samples and guidelines. The authors go beyond the routine English grammar approach to deal with the difficult but often-ignored problem of documentation that will hold up in court. Important concepts are emphasized with related checklists, forms, and pull-out chapter tests. The material is organized into three sections: The Nature of Report Writing, The Mechanics of Report Writing, and The Modernization of Report Writing NEW TO THIS EDITION Updated and revised with new material on forensics and scientific reports, crime reporting, common errors in forensic reports, and automation of report writing. Appendixes are thoroughly revised, with new examples of reporting forms, worksheets, and reports, including a sample forensic lab report and presentence investigation report. Text complemented by numerous examples, sample reports and tools. Each chapter concludes with a sample test for the reader to self-evaluate learning. Appendices include model reports, examples of agency instructions for completing report forms and selected readings.
