Network Analysis and Synthesis by Ravish R. Singh - Books ...

Network synthesis is a design technique for linear electrical circuits. Synthesis starts from a prescribed impedance function of frequency or frequency response and then determines the possible networks that will produce the required response. The technique is to be compared to network analysis in which the response of a given circuit is calculated. Prior to network synthesis, only network analysis was available, but this requires that one already knows what form of circuit is to be analysed. Th

Network synthesis - Wikipedia

The partial fraction expansion of the network function is: $Z(s) = \frac{A_0}{s} + \frac{A_1}{s+j3} + \frac{A_2}{(s-j3)} + H_s$. The values of residues is found to be as: A_0 at $s=0$ is $= 640/9 = 71.11$; so we find $C_0 = 1/A_0 = 1 / 71.11 = 0.0141$ Farad. A_1 at $s = -j3$ is $= 350/18 = 19.45$. Now we know L_1 and C_1 of the parallel network is calculated as. $C_1 = 1/(2A_1)$

Network analysis starts with a network and by applying the various electric circuit theorems predicts the response of the network. Network synthesis on the other hand, starts with a desired response and its methods produce a network that outputs, or approximates to, that response. Network synthesis was originally intended to produce filters of the kind formerly described as wave filters but now usually just called filters.
