Optimal Control Problems For Partial

A comprehensive monograph on the subject, Optimal Control of Partial Differential Equations on Reticulated Domains is intended to address some of the obstacles that face researchers today, particularly with regard to multi-scale engineering applications involving hierarchies of grid-like domains. Bringing original results together with others previously scattered across the literature, it tackles computational challenges by exploiting asymptotic analysis and harnessing differences between ...

Optimal Control Problems for Partial Differential ...

In optimal control theory, the Hamilton-Jacobi-Bellman equation gives a necessary and sufficient condition for optimality of a control with respect to a loss function. It is, in general, a nonlinear partial differential equation in the value function, which means its solution is the value function itself. Once this solution is known, it can be used to obtain the optimal control by taking the maximizer of the Hamiltonian involved in the HJB equation. The equation is a result of the theory ...

4.2 Summary of results on the decoupling of optimal control problems. We will recall here a few results on the decoupling of optimal control problems for systems determined by parabolic-type partial differential equations such as those obtained by J.-L. Lions and presented in [LIO 68a]. These are the results that inspired the factorization ...

Optimal Control Problem - an overview | ScienceDirect Topics

Then our problem is formulated as a stochastic control problem with partial information. We derive the Hamilton–Jacobi–Bellman equation. We solve this equation to obtain an explicit form of the value function and the optimal strategy for this problem. Moreover, we also introduce the results obtained by the martingale method.

Optimal Control Problems for Partial Differential ...

General method. Optimal control deals with the problem of finding a control law for a given system such that a certain optimality criterion is achieved. A control problem includes a cost functional that is a function of state and control variables. An optimal control is a set of differential equations describing the paths of the control variables that minimize the cost function.

A bang-bang control As we will see later in §4.4.2, an optimal control $\alpha^(\cdot)$ is given by $\alpha^(t) = \hat{}^1$ if $0 \leq t \leq t^$ 0 if $t^ < t \leq T$ for an appropriate switching time $0 \leq t^* \leq T$. In other words, we should reinvest all the output (and therefore consume nothing) up until time t^* , and afterwards, we

In some optimal control problems, extremal arcs satisfying occur where the matrix $\bigl(\bigl(\partial^2 H/\partial \mathbf{u}^2 \bigr) \bigr)$ is singular. These are called singular arcs. These are called singular arcs. Additional tests are required to verify if a singular arc is optimizing.
