Breastfeeding exclusively (giving your baby no other food or drink) is recommended for around the first 6 months. After this time, breastfeeding is recommended alongside solid food. Therefore, it's likely that you'll be breastfeeding when you return to work, training or education. There are several options.

Breastfeeding and going back to work - NHS

A breastfed child eats normal solid foods alongside breastmilk, and they do not require any other mammalian milk (e.g. cow's milk). There is no evidence of harm to children or mothers who breastfeed to natural term. Breastfeeding beyond infancy is biologically normal: it should be celebrated and encouraged in mothers who wish to do so.
